Yamhill County Democrats Successful Fundraiser

McMinnville, OR — September 15, 2008

The Yamhill County Democrats reported a successful fundraiser (and fun time!) at Sokol Blosser Winery last Friday evening.

“This election is a testament to the extraordinary slate of superior Democratic candidates to choose from. These people are taking on the great challenges of today for our country and for Yamhill County. New faces, from Kris Bledsoe to Barack Obama, are giving our county and country fresh hope for positive change. We look forward to a vigorous campaign on the key issues of our time through to the November general election on November 4, 2008,” said Will Neuhauser, Chair of the Yamhill County Democrats.

“The Democratic Party’s principles of accepting shared responsibilities, and working for an accountable government in the common interest are just what it is needed to face America’s three global challenges: globalized terrorism, the impacts of economic globalization and global warming and to return the country’s focus to growing and strengthening the economy for regular Americans,” Neuhauser concluded.

Treasurer Les Buchholz said he expected the event to net over $1500 after expenses.

Representative Greg Macpherson, shepherd of Measure 49 to redress the mess of Measure 37, used the event as an opportunity to endorse Kris Bledsoe in her race.

Attendees included Trent Lutz, Executive Director of the Democratic Party of Oregon, Oregon House of Representatives Greg Macpherson and Jean Cowan, representatives from the David Wu and Jeff Merkley campaigns, and Mary Stern, County Commissioner. Candidates included Denise Bacon for Newberg City Council, Jason Brown for Oregon House District 23, and Kris Bledsoe for County Commissioner.
